Our Year In Numbers

We provided support to 11,356 people in 2017/18

 96% of our service users were happy with the treatment they received

 94% of our service users would recommend us to others

In 2017/18 we supported 1,480 young people

We helped to ensure that 90%  of our service users who reported being at risk of eviction were secure in their homes when they left our services

How we allocated our funds

We helped almost half of our service users to stop drinking alcohol

88%

of service users at a higher risk of hepatitis C were tested

We supported 637 family and friends of people using drugs or alcohol

We helped over one-third of our service users to enjoy a better quality of life by the time they left treatment

Nearly 60% of people that we helped who were using opiates were abstinent or had significantly improved in their first six months of treatment

Trustee Message

Another year for Blenheim, another 11,356 people supported across London.

I continue to be deeply proud of the dedication of all our staff and volunteers who work to empower people, change lives, and enrich our communities. For our service users, recovery journeys can be long and difficult but I am in awe of their individual courage, grit and determination regardless.

When I look back over the year, the immense tragedy of the Grenfell Tower fire casts a long shadow. Our work in the Royal Borough of Kensington and Chelsea has expanded as we worked in partnership with other organisations to offer support services to the community. The unwavering strength of all those affected is truly inspirational, and rest assured, Blenheim will continue to be on hand to provide assistance to anyone that seeks it.

In an era of shrinking budgets, services are ever adapting to try and provide more with less. It is at times like these we must always remember to see the bigger picture and understand why investment in drug and alcohol treatment services is essential.

In 2017 3,756 people died from drug related poisoning in England and Wales, the highest figure since 1993. Across the UK the annual cost of illicit drug misuse totals around £10.7bn. Alcohol related harm in England comes out at £21.5bn. The loss of productivity, crime, and healthcare costs related to drug and alcohol misuse are not inevitable. We can tackle this.

As ever, this year Blenheim has remained a loud and effective voice for positive legislative change. In our involvement with the Cross Party Parliamentary Group on Drugs, Alcohol and Justice, and wider campaigning bodies, we have played critical roles in campaigns to eradicate hepatitis C, improve drug and alcohol treatment in the criminal justice system, and raise awareness around the link between domestic abuse and major sporting tournaments.

I am delighted to say that this year has also seen us welcome HAGA into the Blenheim fold. They have brought with them decades of expertise in the alcohol treatment sector, a wealth of local knowledge of Haringey, and an innovative streak that will keep Blenheim at the forefront of the sector.

All those associated with Blenheim should look back over the last year with pride; we have achieved a huge amount. But what encourages me most about our organisation is that we won't dwell on our achievements for too long as our focus shifts to the year ahead and to new, exciting challenges.

Eric Feltin, Chair of the Board of Trustees

“ Recovery is now an achievable goal that has to be nurtured to be realised, however it is the most worthwhile journey you can ever undertake. **”
Victor, Blenheim Service User

About Blenheim

For over 50 years Blenheim has been pioneering drug and alcohol services and social action. We are committed to tackling stigma, innovating, and campaigning for positive change in the alcohol and substance misuse field.

With 19 services across 12 London boroughs, we provide a range of recovery services designed to meet the unique needs of individuals and their families, friends and communities. We are committed to providing free, friendly advice, support and treatment for people facing drug or alcohol related problems.

We are committed to change, quality, honesty, innovation and integrity. These strong values are at the heart of all we do, because we believe in people's capacity to change.

Drug and alcohol use is what people do, not who they are.

We challenge myths and stereotypes surrounding drug and alcohol use.

We provide opportunities to develop through support and learning.

We advocate that the opportunity to change is a right, not a privilege.

Our Services

Blenheim provides sector leading support for those affected by drug and alcohol use. The treatments we offer are tailor made for the individual knowing that no two recovery paths are the same. These services not only aim to improve the health of the individual, but to have a lasting and positive impact on the wellbeing of their families, friends and communities in which they live.

In group meetings at PCRS, I've met wonderful people that are in the same situation as me. It's so reassuring to understand that you are not alone as addiction is an isolating, dangerous thing. I'm really grateful to Blenheim for giving me structure and the hope to keep going. The staff are all lovely and arriving at the service I felt so relieved that I could start to heal.

Cindy, Lewisham Primary Care Recovery Service

96% of our service users were happy with the treatment they received

94% of our service users would recommend us to others

At Blenheim, our service users are at the very centre of who we are and what we do. We recognise that service users bring valuable insight to treatment and their meaningful contribution can improve the quality and experience of all those using services. Blenheim intends to improve opportunities for service user involvement throughout the organisation, expanding activities available to those using services.

Support for the Grenfell community

This year our DAWS Enhanced Substance Misuse Service was commissioned to provide a targeted service to residents of North Kensington as a result of the Grenfell Tower tragedy. We have worked to make the community aware of how to access support for drugs and alcohol issues, whether as an existing need or one that has developed after the incident as a way of self-medicating the emerging effects of trauma. We have provided open access drop in sessions and bespoke training to all Grenfell frontline staff on drugs, alcohol and treatment pathways. Until July 2018 we delivered an overnight service in partnership with Central and North West London NHS Trust to provide the community with access to emotional support during the night. On average our services have seen a monthly attendance of around 80 residents and professionals.

Treatment Pathways

We support our service users with a range of tailored recovery pathways using evidence based methods including psychosocial interventions, International Treatment Effectiveness Programme (ITEP), Cognitive Behaviour Therapy, and Opiate Substitution Therapy (OST), alongside a range of harm reduction approaches and complementary therapies.

Emerald Pathway

Our Arch service has trialled a successful new pathway, designed for older individuals and those with restricted mobility to access alcohol services. This is a group that previously had low engagement with services. The Emerald Pathway works with service users and their families in their homes to help them drink less and to make positive changes in health and lifestyle choices.

“ I haven’t had a drink for three weeks now. I’m really thankful for what they have done and I’m looking forward to getting out and doing some gardening, which I haven’t done for a long time. ”

Ken, an Emerald Pathway service user

72% of Emerald Pathway users have been discharged either as abstinent or, having achieved their goal of controlled drinking, as an occasional drinker. A further 11% are currently still in treatment but are reporting abstinence.

Young People’s Services

This year, our Insight Young People’s services have provided support to 1480 young people aged 12-18 who are affected by drug or alcohol issues, either personally or by another person’s use.

We are based across the community including schools, colleges, youth offending services and hostels to make it as easy as possible for young people to access our services and find the support they need.

Our approach is to support young people holistically by addressing all elements of their life including mental and physical health, education, relationships, and future aspirations. We believe this is the best way to enable young people to tackle issues they may be experiencing and move forward with their lives. We also provide support to access other services, training to professionals and educational workshops to young people throughout the community.

“ I felt at ease from the start. When I walked in I thought that this was a cool place, the people are cool and it didn’t feel too clinical. I felt that I could come in and be able to talk about what I was going through. I always felt that I could go in and not be judged, no matter what I had done, it was nice to know that someone was looking out for me, checking up on me and always had my back. Accessing support has massively improved my family relationships and helped me get through my exam period last year. Without Insight that I’m not sure I would have got through this. ”

Ali, Insight Platform

At Insight Platform 84% of service users were discharged having either reduced or stopped their use of drugs or alcohol.

Factbox

Young people’s drug and alcohol interventions result in £4.3m health savings and £100m crime benefits per year.

If just a 7-10% reduction in the number of young people continuing their dependency into adulthood is achieved, the lifetime societal benefit of treatment could be as high as £49-159m, this equates to a potential £5-8 benefit for every £1 invested.

New Insight Young People's service in Westminster

This year we have been delighted to expand our young people's service offer to Westminster. The new service, funded by the City of Westminster, works closely with Blenheim's young people's service in Kensington and Chelsea, which Blenheim have provided for 10 years. Insight Westminster provides diversionary activities for young people at risk as well as one-to-one interventions and workshops with individuals and their families. The service works closely across the community to raise awareness of drug and alcohol use and help drive behavioural change.

Families and Friends

This year our families and friends services have supported 637 individuals affected by the drug or alcohol use of a close friend or family member. Our aim is not only to improve health of the individual using drugs or alcohol, but to have a lasting positive impact on the wellbeing of their family, friends and the communities in which they live.

“ There is one thing I have learnt from this experience and it is that there is always a light at the end of the tunnel, you are not alone, I know it's hard to believe sometimes but it's true...
Eve, Better Lives Service – Extract from her poem, To Whomever this May Touch ”

Our families and friends services offer free and confidential support to people who have been affected by someone else's drinking or drug use. Our services help family members, children, carers, partners or friends to regain control over their own life, whether or not the drug or alcohol using family member is in treatment.

 We supported 637 family and friends of people using drugs or alcohol

“ I still attend the weekly support group. It has really helped me to understand that I am not the only one who has these problems. I am able to get and give support to my peers. I am able to share issues in this group that I have never been able to share with anyone else because these people understand what I am going through.
Doreen, DAWS Family Service ”

Education, Training and Employment

Our, Education Training and Employment (ETE) services help adults recovering from addiction to improve confidence, gain skills and ultimately rediscover purpose in their lives through meaningful activity such as work, education, or volunteering.

“ ETE gave me the confidence to apply for teacher training. I was full of fear and low self-esteem. I genuinely didn't believe I was worthy enough to work with kids and to hold a position of such responsibility. They helped me build some confidence during my recovery and assisted me with the logistics of applying.
Eve, DAWS Education, Training and Employment (ETE) Service ”

 638 of our service users accessed our Employment Training & Education programme
43% of service users accessing our Education, Training and Employment programmes have either undertaken qualifications, are in paid employment, or have begun volunteering

Blenheim Goes Above and Beyond

Campaigns

Blenheim continues to utilise our extensive experience and knowledge of the sector to advocate for positive change on behalf of people affected by drug and alcohol use and their families. We have used our position within the Cross Party Parliamentary Group on Drugs, Alcohol and Justice and involvement with Collective Voice to campaign tirelessly on issues around Naloxone, hepatitis C, stigma and the failings in the transition from custody to the community experienced by prisoners requiring treatment for drugs or alcohol.

“ We are most grateful to Blenheim for their continued commitment to the work of the Cross-Party Group. Parliamentarians have been provided with informative and insightful briefing material, such as the ‘Failure by Design and Disinvestment’ paper on the critical state of custody-community transitions. At Group Meetings, service providers such as Blenheim enable us to hear first-hand accounts from the frontline. With Blenheim’s help, we were able to launch our powerful ‘Charter for Change’ last year; and they have taken a lead role in the forthcoming Alcohol Charter publication. Their input has been invaluable and instrumental to the success of the Group.

Mary Glendon MP and Lord Ramsbotham, Co-Chairs of the Drugs, Alcohol and Justice Parliamentary Group

Factbox

-  In London it is estimated that 60% of people who inject drugs have hepatitis C.
-  £22,000-£41,000 in treatment costs can be saved for every prevented case of hepatitis C.

Fundraising

This year we were awarded a range of funds and grants:

c. £50,000 from Heritage Lottery Fund towards the Journey to Recovery project in Redbridge. Journey to Recovery is training 20 volunteers in recovery to learn heritage skills and share stories about their own recovery.

£134,000 from BBC Children in Need, for two additional ‘Hidden Harm’ workers at Insight Platform & Better Lives family service.

£5,000 from the Worshipful Co. of Information Technologists towards a ‘pop-up’ internet café at DAWs ETE to provide more people with the chance to gain IT skills and find future opportunities.

c. £70,000 from The Richard Cloudesley Legacy Fund, towards evening provision for families and a service user volunteer training programme at Better Lives family service.

£10,000 from the National Lottery Awards for All to support the delivery of the Recovery Street Film Festival which shares stories of recovery around the UK, reducing stigma and promoting recovery messages.

We also continued to deliver grant funded projects for the Peter Harrison Trust at Insight KC and for BIG Lottery Reaching Communities Learn 2 Earn.

Training

Blenheim’s training team is renowned across the UK for delivering innovative and sector-leading training packages for both internal staff and external organisations.

-  In 2017/18, we ran 64 days of skills training for 229 staff and 57 volunteers
-  192 members of staff and volunteers completed 1239 online modules
-  The team delivered training to a total of 291 external delegates.

Training Islington in alcohol interventions

We have trained over 180 professionals and residents in Islington over the past twelve months on how to support local people to reduce their alcohol use.

“ Islington experiences some of the highest levels of alcohol-related harm in London and we commissioned Blenheim to provide this training to frontline staff in alcohol awareness. Ensuring they have the skills, knowledge and confidence to have conversations on increasing and higher risk drinking is effective as part of a whole-system approach to alcohol-harm reduction. We are really pleased that this intervention has reached so many people and will have an impact on many residents’ lives.

Angelina Taylor, Public Health Strategist at Islington Borough Council

Volunteers

Blenheim’s dedicated volunteers play an essential role in ensuring Blenheim can serve communities across London. Our volunteers assist our outputs in range of functions, from generating social media and marketing content to welcoming and engaging service users in services.

“ It’s been a brilliant experience and the whole Blenheim team has been so helpful and supportive throughout. It’s so great to be able to support a charity that does such fantastic and important work.

Lucy, Marketing Volunteer

HAGA Merger

This year Blenheim merged with the Haringey alcohol charity HAGA. This merger is an exciting opportunity for both Blenheim and HAGA as we are two successful charities that share similar objectives and values. We both put service-users at the heart of everything that we do.

“ We are excited to have merged with HAGA and to extend the digital and innovative interventions we offer across our existing services and beyond. The combined expertise and knowledge of our staff will enable us to provide a wider range of services and reach more people that need support to reduce their alcohol or drug use.

Deborah Jenkins,
Blenheim’s Interim Director of Innovation and Growth

Innovation Unit

This year Blenheim has established the Innovation Unit, driving our commitment to utilise new ideas and technologies to provide the best and most effective way of reaching those who need our support.

Drink Coach

Our Drinkcoach online coaching sessions are a professional, convenient, and confidential way for people to discuss their drinking and receive specialist guidance online. These sessions are aimed at increasing and higher risk drinkers who want to reduce their drinking, but are unable or don't want to access traditional face-to-face alcohol services.

“ I found the service excellent. It was good to talk to someone who really understood alcohol and drinkers. I have had counselling in the past but I found these sessions much more useful and of practical help.

DrinkCoach User

Don't Bottle It Up

DontBottleItUp is Blenheim’s tool that allows people to find out how risky their drinking is with a two-minute Alcohol Use Disorders Identification Test (AUDIT), the World Health Organisation’s gold-standard alcohol screening tool. Over 180,000 people have screened themselves since DontBottleItUp launched in 2012, with over 59,000 screening last year alone.

After screening, people can then access personalised advice online, make a plan for cutting down and choose whether to book a DrinkCoach. DontBottleItUp is currently commissioned in twelve local authorities – Camden, Croydon, Enfield, Essex, Hampshire, Haringey, Islington, Medway, Newham, Surrey, Tower Hamlets, and West Sussex.

Shine

Shine is Blenheim’s new social enterprise coffee shop in Haringey, which opened in April. It provides an ongoing creative outlet for the community with an in-house art group, a led sewing group, and a music circle in collaboration with CapitalAgeArts.

Partnerships

We see partnership working and collaboration as key to our success as we continue to build partnerships across the sector to increase our capacity, improve our services and enhance our reach. Our teams across London benefit immensely from knowledge sharing and working together with our partners means we can offer a vast array of services. These include criminal justice assistance, community care assessments, evening club drug clinics, opiate substitute therapy (OST), harm reduction and a range of mental health support and psychosocial interventions. At their core our professional relationships are built on a foundation of good communication, transparency, and a drive for best practice. Over the last year Blenheim has worked closely with a range of partners including:

- South London & Maudsley NHS Trust
- Camden and Islington NHS Trust
- East London NHS Foundation Trust Barnet
- Central and North West London NHS Foundation Trust
- Barnet, Enfield & Haringey Mental Health Trust
- Turning Point
- WDP

Blenheim's Ambitious Vision

We have an ambitious 5 year strategy to transform and enrich the lives of the communities in which we operate.

In 2023 more treatment will be available and more people will be using our services.

Our work will have catalysed a change in 50,000 people (40,000 adults and 10,000 children and young people) who will have successfully completed treatment using our services, having made a sustainable positive change to their lives. The physical and mental health of those who use our services, and that of their families will have improved. They will have healthier relationships and be better able to achieve and manage secure housing and employment. The reduction in violence and drug and alcohol related crime will ensure a more cohesive community and lower costs to society.

Our campaigning will have contributed to hepatitis C being eliminated, there will be a minimum unit pricing policy in place for England and Wales and the Government will have published an alcohol strategy. The public will be better informed about the complexity of circumstances leading to drug and alcohol addiction and stigma will have been reduced.

Our core objectives over the next 5 years are:

A. Improve the health and wellbeing of our beneficiaries in a sustained way

B. Cultivate new ways of working to reduce harm and dependency

C. Grow and diversify our income streams

D. Campaign and advocate for and on behalf of people stigmatised by drug and alcohol use
